The able articles of the Montevideo Times. "In defence of human life," published in answer to Doctor Palomeque's articles in Die, have produced an unexpected result. The editor has received a summons from the police judge to appear on May 3rd and declare who is the author and under what guarantee have been published in the Times entitled "murder no crime," "The Carvalho case, reply to Dr. Palomeque" and "Impunity of crime." This summons is probably the first step in a suit by Carvalho, who killed traffic manager Lewis, who wants to make all he can out of his "gringoise".

The weather is most unseasonably warm, thermometer throughout day averaging twenty-five degrees.
Two prominent Englishmen had arranged to go on a fishing excursion to Maldonado for the holidays, and had loaded a very small tug with eatables and drinkables, but were unable to obtain permission to sail. One of them is going to make a row about it, and swears he will go to Maldonado. Last night's bulletin, which I wired you at 10 o'clock, was regarded in Government circles as the beginning of the end of the revolution. The night before I heard Nuñez spoken of as a great leader. After his manifesto was issued the Blancos spoke of him as a person of no importance, and they said that Lamas would continue fighting. Once again I state to you that Lamas is not the leader of the rebellion; he is inferior in grade to Saravia and other commanders, but he is the best adviser of the rebel leaders to-day. I am informed that three hundred thousand pesos have been subscribed and sent to the Blancos. Three hundred thousand "canards" more likely.
To-day's papers publish message of E. P. to Congress, asking for a credit of four million dollars for war expenses. He writes that there has been a fall in receipts of nearly a million and a half. The special taxes voted by the law of January 1896 have yielded 1,550,000 dollars from the tobacco tax and the additional two and a half per cent. customs tax. This entire sum has been applied to purchase of armament and military supplies. The project of law authorizes the continuation of these taxes and their application to the extraordinary expenses caused by the civil war, a loan of four millions to be issued at six per cent. The above mentioned taxes to be paid in the Bank of the Republic as guarantee of interest and amortization. The E. P. is also authorized to pay war expenses in these bonds at rate of eighty-five per cent.

To-morrow the Albion will play another match at Punta Carretas against a team from the Retribution. There is great enthusiasm amongst the natives for these foot-ball matches, the admission being free.

The charity commission has replied to Government refusing the addition of twenty three new members to the Committee for the service of the wounded in the present war, and the charge of all that service; founding its refusal on the organic law creating it. The Finance Minister has replied with a long decree reiterating his first decree founding his right on extraordinary powers conferred on executive. Nothing remains for charity commissioners but to resign.

Brazilian Government has returned to interned Uruguayan rebels the arms which had been taken from them. The reason being that they are claimed as private property.

Juan Rodriguez, a Blanco leader, has died of yellow fever.

Government has sent safe-conducts to postal and telegraph employees in Tacuambó to preserve them from press-gangs.

Brazilian newspaper Diario do Commercio opines that Lamas and Saravia will follow example of Nuñez.

All the Blancos in town are disgusted at Nuñez's proclamation, but continue to speak bravely.

A good story comes from Paysandu of a Brazilian wounded in the battle of Tres Arbores. To a compatriot who visited him in hospital he said: "When I get out of this, I shall not serve any more amongst the Uruguayans; they don't fight as we do, they fight seriously—se briga de certo."

LATER.
The Blancos are trying to keep up a stiff face against adversity in the shape of Nuñez' manifesto. They pretend that it is a distinct benefit to the revolution and will strengthen it by getting rid of undesirable elements such as Terra, Acevedo, Diaz and Nuñez; the latter, though esteemed as a military leader, was from the beginning considered as the instrument of Terra, whose life-long ambition has been, and is, to obtain the dictatorship of this country. Seeing the prominence taken by Lamas, whom they had regarded as a subordinate, they determined to undo him and ruin the revolution if they could not attain their own personal ends. The outcome of this, along with the quarrels between Terra and some of the revolutionary committee, is Nuñez' famous proclamation, treating certain members of the committee as thieves and cowards and throwing up the revolutionary sponge.

With regard to Nuñez' proclamation two points are difficult to explain, viz.: first, the act of separation is dated the seventeenth and only published on the twenty-ninth by Government, twelve days later, though perhaps Government knew it in all its details, but did not judge it expedient to publish it. Second, how can it be explained, knowing that Col. Borches was the real organizer of forces in Artigas, that he had not signed Nuñez' manifesto, neither have Navarrete and Immanuel Viquez, now said to be interned in Brazil, nor Col. Urtey and Joya, prominent men of Blanco party, who are reported to have joined Lamas with their forces.

THE WAR.
Desperate Fighting near Velastino.
The Greeks Triumph.

Athenian Paper Urges Necessity of Mediation by the Powers.

Vienna, 30th.—Telegrams received to-day from Thessaly report that the Turks are in possession of Trikala and all the localities situated between that point, Larissa and Tournavos. It is asserted that Marshall Elhem Pasha is momentarily expecting reinforcements he has asked for from Salonica to again take the offensive along the whole line.
Athens, 30th.—The new Cabinet is definitely constituted and the Ministers have taken the usual oath of office. The following is the Cabinet: Ralli, Premier and Minister of Marine; Theotokis, Interior; Skouloudis, Foreign Affairs; Eftaxias, Public Education; Triantafillakos, Justice; Simopoulos, Finance and Colonel Justicé, War.

Cherbourg, 30th.—Queen Victoria has embarked here on her yacht which left for London. The state of Her Majesty's health continues to be satisfactory.

Paris, 30th.—Telegrams from Volo state that quiet is being gradually restored there, due to the presence in that part of several foreign men-of-war. Amongst these is the French cruiser Traude.
London, 30th.—A telegram has just been received from Thessaly announcing that the fight between Turks and Greeks has been renewed in Velastino near Volo on a bloodier scale than before. The Brigade under Colonel Smolenitz, which defends the Pass there, is fighting heroically and has repelled repeated charges of Turkish Cavalry compelled it to finally fall back with considerable losses.

Athens, 30th.—The Press here greets the new Cabinet very favourably. M. Ralli and his colleagues received an enthusiastic ovation from a crowd of people to-day while leaving Parliament House, where they had gone to take the customary oath of allegiance to the King and Constitution.

London, 30th.—Her Majesty Queen Victoria arrived at London to-night on her return from Nice, where she had resided for the past two months.

Paris, 30th.—Telegrams from Athens report that ex-Premier Delyannis held a conference with M. Ralli this afternoon during which he declared that he would support the new Premier in every way and do everything in his power to assist the Cabinet in overcoming the country's present difficult situation.

Volo, 30th.—The Greek squadron from the East has arrived and landed reinforcements to help the garrison to resist any further Turkish attack. The spirit of the troops has revived and they await the enemy in a determined frame of mind.

Vienna, 30th.—Telegrams from Janina report that the Greek forces, which had invaded Epirus, have received a definite order from Athens. This news is generally credited, as the retreat was considered to be inevitable, in view of the reinforcements which the new Turkish Commander-in-Chief brought with him.

London, 30.—The Chancellor of the Exchequer has informed the House of Commons that there is a surplus of £3,400,000 over the estimated Revenue for the year just expired. This is the biggest surplus which has ever occurred in the British Empire. The news caused a rise in Consols and other securities. It is a general opinion that Parliament, instead of decreasing taxes will devote this surplus to the construction of new men-of-war, coast fortifications, purchases of armament and construction of barracks for the army at home.

Madrid, 30th.—Five anarchists have been tried and sentenced to death on their own confession by the Barcelona Court for taking part in the last attempts here which created such a sensation.

Vienna, 30th.—Telegrams from Larissa report that the vanguards of the Turkish and Greek armies are in reach of each other a few leagues from Pharsalia, and that both are determined to fight. An important battle is imminent between Edhem Pasha's and King George's forces.

Athens, 30th.—The Cabinet crisis has not yet been solved, but will be so in a few hours. The leaders of the opposition have promised to support M. Delyannis' successor, although some of them have refused to form part of the new cabinet. M. Ralli has the sympathy of the great majority of the Greek people.

Paris, 30th.—The papers, in discussing the Eastern Question to-day, opine that the friendly mediation of the Great Powers will be immediate. They moreover declare that it is very urgent that the intervention should take place, as fresh victories of the Turks in Greece at the present moment would make the situation more serious and provoke a general conflict. Le Journal des Debats, Le Temps and other important organs hope that the Great Powers will act without delay and thus prevent complications.

THIS MORNING'S TELEGRAMS.
(Received after Midnight.)

Paris, 30th.—Telegrams received to-night from Athens state that the fighting round Velastino has now ceased. The Greeks have triumphed all along the line, repelling after the most heroic efforts the attacks made by the Turks, who in superior numbers endeavoured to take their positions.

The Moslem loss were exceptionally heavy. Entire battalions were decimated by the Greek artillery which was admirable served.

Rome, 30th.—The first sitting was held to-day of the Parliamentary Commission appointed to investigate the causes which led to the Adana catastrophe, and to ascertain to whose fault it should be attributed.

Athens, 30th.—The new Ministers of the Interior and War will leave for Pharsalia to inspect the army.

Athens, 30th (9 p.m.)—News has arrived from Velastino that the Greek forces had succeeded in repelling the furious attacks made by the Turks. After the battle, Prince Constantine heartily congratulated his troops and specially rewarded several officers and privates who had distinguished themselves.

Athens, 30th.—The important newspaper Acropolis urges King George to invoke the mediation of the Powers to save Greece from disaster.

Vienna, 30th.—The "young German" party proposed to-day in the chamber to impeach the Baden Cabinet, for having decreed the official use of two languages in Bohemia and Moravia.

GOLD DURING APRIL.
The march of gold during April has puzzled the oldest heads in this market; and no wonder. We have seen exchange rates tottering till they have actually fallen under par, which is a danger signal and always heralds a rise in the gold premium. The war in Europe, the fears of complications, the revolution in the Banda Oriental, and its collateral effects here, could not contribute to any improvement in the currency. Furthermore, business embarrassments are the order of the day, and the general commercial situation is most unsatisfactory. Under such circumstances it is only logical that one should view affairs with the greatest distrust, yet, strange to say, the gold market has fallen steadily for the last four weeks, and the wisecracks are non-plussed, seeing that all their logic is at fault.

Perhaps in the very difficulties that surround the market here or threaten it from abroad we may trace the causes of the fall in gold during April; speculation we saw, was nearly dead, business was very slow, and credits were restricted, especially in paper. Had paper money been easier, there can be no doubt that there would have been a heavy speculation for a rise, and the premium would, no doubt, have been forced up for some time. As affairs turned out, gold has fallen, if not much, yet sufficiently to show that the gold premium is going against the current of the market, which is pessimistic. It may be that people, too engrossed with the dangers near them, do not see the splendid prospects afar. Thus there can be no doubt that London views the Argentine situation with favor, as proved by the steadily rising quotations of Argentine Stocks and shares. It is also known that the finances of the National Government are most satisfactory, so much so that the Argentine Minister in London has already lodged in the Bank of England all the funds necessary to meet the full half-yearly interests on the National Debt. The force of such arguments we acknowledge, but they should be completely neutralized by the fall in the exchange rate and the critical state of commercial affairs in our midst.

It is not the first time, nor will it be the last, that hard facts should prove the logic of the whole market to be wrong. How often have we seen gold rise in the face of the wholesale bearish operations of the market at large: this we witnessed in the most forcible manner in 1894. The reverse took place in 1895, but not on such a sweeping scale, when, carried away by the Chilean war-cloud, the Bolsa bought and bought, yet gold fell, to the discomfort of the wisest heads on 'Change. April has proved that logic is at fault, but all doubt if gold will continue falling during May.

So far as volume of speculation was concerned, April was more active than March, viz:—

Thus gold has fallen ten points since 1st April, and 20 points under the price in February. The April average is only eight points above that of last January. After the experience of the April speculation, bankers, merchants, capitalists and dealers are perplexed, and wonder what this month of May has in store with its promised financial revelations in the President's Message to Congress. Since logic was at fault in April, it would be presumption to base any calculation on such a flimsy basis for May: perhaps it might be safe to argue that if the market expects gold to fall on the strength of the President's Message, then in all Buenos Ayres Bolsa probability, the gold premium will rise. This sounds paradoxical, but it holds good on and off 'Change.

THE WAR IN EUROPE.

According to the telegrams received during the day yesterday, the forces of Edhem Pasha and of Col. Smolenitz are now arrayed on the famous plain of Pharsalia, where Caesar defeated Pompey in a memorable battle which Lucan described in verse. In that decisive encounter, if our classical recollections have not been altogether dimmed by journalistic dead-gear, Caesar lost only a few hundred men, while Pompey left 20,000 slain on the field. We shall watch with keen interest the result of the battle which, now after a lapse of close on 2,000 years, brings the classical plains before the notice of the world. There will be no Lucan, unfortunately, to convey in graceful cadence the "peripetias" of the fight, though the cable speaks in very much measured terms. The Greeks will make a supreme effort to win the day, but Turkish artillery may prove stronger than the inspiring recollections that cling round the spot. As a matter of fact the battle has already begun, the vanguards having already come into collision. Last evening a telegram was received stating that Col. Smolenitz had already twice repelled the Turkish onslaught, but so far as we can gather, there is no certainty as to which side the advantage leans to. In the meantime the greatest excitement prevails in the European capitals, as the battle will be of a decisive character. In Athens, the most painful anxiety has seized upon the population, and we are told that a dissatisfied mob even ventured to shout seditiously before the King's palace. It is feared that the socialists and anarchists are inciting the populace, but this is only a mere rumour set afloat to explain what appears to be a very natural feeling of general discontent under the circumstances. The fall of the Delyannis Cabinet points to the predominance of this feeling; and things must be bad indeed when the King, to preserve the threatened stability of the throne, is compelled to throw himself into the arms of the opposition. Bodies of volunteers from all parts of Europe are wending their way to Greece—impelled by a feeling of sentimentality which unlikeliest for King George, there is no Byron to fan. We fear that "it is Greece, but living Greece no more," unless the Powers intervene, which is more than probable. With their usual policy of throwing dust in the eyes of the world, the European Governments, we are told by the cable, have notified Greece that they will not allow Salonica to be bombarded, as if they were anxious to protect the Turk! The Greek fleet dare not bombard, for it would be destroyed by the Turkish batteries. This intimation will probably be followed by another to the Turk.

It is significant that the Greek troops have evacuated Volo, precisely at a moment when we had been led to suppose that Prince Constantine—who heroically abandoned Milonas, Larissa and other strongholds, would make a stand at that point and provoke a decisive battle. Several European squadrons are anchored in the Bay of Volo, waiting for something to turn up.

The Greeks have lost ground considerably and we doubt whether even their ancient prestige will save them from the punishment they so richly deserve for disturbing the peace of Europe and endeavoring to fan racial rancor into a flame, for the paltry purpose of securing a revenue and a few public posts in Crete.

THE BRESIL'S MAJLS.

London, April 10th.
We learn from Ellassona that a force of Greek irregulars has crossed the frontier into Turkish territory near Grevena, and come into collision with the Turkish troops, who have surrounded the invaders. Fighting still continued when the news was sent off from Grevena. The situation is regarded at Ellassona as extremely grave.

Sir A. Biliotti has left for Candia. On Thursday the insurgents at Kissamos were shelled by the warships for firing on a boat that was taking mails to the garrison of the fort there.

Arising out of a question as to the progress of the brought by Messrs. Ridsdale against Mr. R. P. Houston, M. P., but assented to a stay of execution pending a possible appeal, upon "the usual terms." Considerable discussion arose between counsel as to the exact effect of the phrase, the judge remarking that though it was used every day, no one seemed to know what it meant.

The Rev. Dr. Belcher, rector of a Gloucestershire parish, yesterday proceeded in the Queen's Bench Division against Colonel Henry Knollys, formerly of the Royal Artillery, for having libelled him in a book published by Messrs. W. Blackwood and Sons. In this it was alleged that the plaintiff, so far back as 1873, had preached a sermon of an immodest character to the troops at Aldershot. At the conclusion of counsel's opening statement the parties conferred in court, and the defendant, accepting the explanation of the plaintiff that no such sermon was preached, apologised for the statements made, promised to withdraw the book from circulation, and to pay all costs. On behalf of the publishers, regret was expressed for the publication, and the record was withdrawn.

A decree nisi, with costs, was yesterday pronounced by Sir Francis Jeune, in the Divorce Division, in the petition brought by Captain Dutton Hunt, Deputy Assistant-Adjutant General at the School of Musketry, Hythe, by reason of the misconduct of his wife with the Hon. Claude Berkeley Portman. There was no defence.

The stock markets were firm in tone yesterday, but except in the case of gilt-edged stocks prices closed under the best. Consols rose to 112½—¾ for cash, and 112½—¾ for the account, and home Corporation stocks and the prior charge stocks of English railways were particularly firm, 35,500l. in sovereigns was received at the Bank from abroad. Silver remained at 28½d. per ounce.

URUGUAYAN REVOLUTION.

The Uruguayan revolution appears on the eve of a "fracas," as Colonel José Nuñez, one of the leaders, has declared that he can no longer continue fighting for the Blanco cause, inasmuch as the revolution does not receive the proper support that is required to make it a success. Funds, arms and ammunition are wanting, and we have no doubt that this feeling of a failure which prevails amongst Nuñez's men will not be long in spreading to the remaining fractions of Blanco rebels. Nuñez's officers agree with their chief, and have signed an "acta" stating that the want of support prevents them from carrying on the campaign against Boria. The following are the telegrams, manifesto and "acta" to which we refer:—

Rio Grande, April 29th.—To Justo Pezazo, Montevideo. Nuñez's manifesto declares the revolution at an end.—E. Magariños.

Rio Grande, April 29th (1.25 p.m.).—To the President of the Republic, Montevideo. Nuñez and his officers have withdrawn from the revolutionary cause, and issued a violent manifesto against the Committee.—Villagran.

The following is the manifesto:—Reasons entertained by certain individuals who, unfortunately, abound in all parties, and who may be classed as cowards, without a spark of patriotism or sense of honour in their corrupted natures, and who accept revolutions when these movements can be beneficial to them, have forced the publication of this document, but only after I see that it is impossible to continue as at present. Were I to remain an impassive spectator of the present painful situation, I should be pointed at as one of their vile accomplices. I, however, limit my present sphere of action to the publication of the following Acta—Colonel José Nuñez.

Villa Arzaga, Department of Cerro Largo, April 17th, 1897. I make the following declarations to the officers of the 2nd Division of the National Army:—Gentlemen,

When a revolution which after 40 days cannot make any headway, in spite of the splendid victory at Tres Arboles, and that even the most elementary means of supplying arms and ammunition for the cause cannot be organized, as in the present case, then gentlemen I think it is time for me to declare the revolution has failed, in spite of all the assurances of support we received. The Revolutionary Corps d'Armée is at present inclosed in a remote corner of the Republic, while dissension prevails in the ranks, and there appears no prospect of a reaction in favour of the cause, as you all see. It is, therefore, possible to continue without arms and ammunition as at present. Furthermore, we have no horses to mount our troopers. The causes which have led up to the present painful situation are many indeed. But I do not think that they should be made known at present, and I therefore reserve them for publicity when the proper time comes.

The following was signed by Nuñez's officers:—

We believe in virtue of the solemn declaration made by Colonel Nuñez, Commander-in-Chief of the 2nd Division, that the revolution has failed, and we think it to be our duty to express our conviction in this respect. We deeply regret that so much blood has been uselessly shed, and also that we should have aggravated still more financial situation of our country.—Mamuel S. Chaves, Chief of the Headquarters Staff; Mario A. Baralido, Commander of the 5th regiment; José Tolido, Chief of the 4th; Custodio G. Gonzalez, Commander of the 3rd Battalion; Pedro Corpi, Commander of the Battalion Trienta y Tres; Remigio Orde, Commander of the 1st Battalion; Ramon B. Escalada, 2nd Commander of the 4th Battalion. We salute, Y.E., E. Magariños Donnelly, Hotel de Paris.

Encampment at Sauce, Nico Perez, April 27th, 1897. I have had the honour of receiving your kind letters dated 26th and 31st of March and 23rd of April respectively. Those letters were given to me on the 24th inst. by an aide-de-camp of Colonel Vergaras. The friendly way in which you address me compels me to redouble my efforts to prove worthy of such friendship. I believe, Mr. President, that a soldier of my conditions should only aspire to see his country at peace, under the protection of its laws. I feel grateful for the honour of being appointed to command veterans who have such a clear notion of their duty. I confide in being able to restore peace and quiet within the next 20 days. We will to-day probably finish distributing equipments, etc. to the troops of the column under my command. The troops are in excellent spirits, and entertain every hope in the final success of our operations to crush the rebels. I beg to renew my sentiments of gratitude and respect towards Y. E.

LADIES' LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent)

Paris, March 27th 1897.

A propos of the Princess Chimay, whose eccentricities amuse all the capitals of Europe. She is an American lady, Miss Lloyd, very wealthy, who wedded the Belgian Prince Chimay for his title, his part of the barter being her money. She disliked the "cold shade of the aristocracy" so indulged in caprices that pleased her, and falling in love with a member of the Izigan orchestra, one Rigo, from Prague, that second-fiddle in a fashionable restaurant in Paris, she made him "elope." She has lately been divorced from her husband, but has the right to see her two children monthly. She is now anxious to marry the fiddler, but he has a wife and three children, and the spouse will not consent to be sent Hagat—like into the wilderness. Learning the fugitives were lodging here at one of the crack hotels, she lodged a complaint against them, required the services of the police inspector, who a few mornings ago, accompanied by the wife, demanded, in the name of the law, admission to their bed-room, and there found them.

The Princess indulged in some strong language, mi-Français, mi-Anglais, that the poor woman happily did not understand. The Princess is preparing to appear in a series of tableaux vivants, or "animated pictures," to use the new name specially designed for her; she and Rigo will visit all the European capitals, and I see her empresario has your city down upon his way-bill to be "done." The lovers concluded the most of their troubles was now ended, but next day they were summoned to appear before the police magistrate on a charge of adultery by the gipsy's wife. Before two hours elapsed they were on the road to Germany. The princess thus escaped the sentence of imprisonment for three months. Madame Rigo says she will pursue the fugitive till her son be sufficiently grown up to exercise the gipsy vengeance of his mother on the siren princess.

The South of France this year is, if anything, overcrowded, but the weather never was so lovely. The Riviera was formerly an attractive region for Argentinians, but of late they are conspicuous by their absence, that is to say they make no display. They are missed, for of all the foreign visitors they were the most liberal in expenditure. The Brazilians tried to cut them out but had to relinquish the struggle. Argentina should recoup her old position in French, in Parisian society; her prominent place is still unfilled, and her hard times, like those in the history of all peoples, have vanished. Buenos Aires has ever been regarded as the backbone of Parisian trade. But to our moutons. Everybody who is anybody has this season put in an appearance in the Riviera; even sturdy invalids have left basking in the sun at Cairo to secure social shakes-up at Nice, Cannes, and the Republic of San Marino. One of the most curious of modern revivals is the meeting of the ex-empress Eugénie, the Princess of Metternich and Sagan, the Marchioness Gallifit, and the Comtesse de Pourtales. The Prince of Wales enjoyed their society often under the Second Empire; and they are the beauties that figure in Winterhalter's celebrated painting of the Empress Eugénie surrounded by her court ladies. The Empress, the Princess de Metternich and the Comtesse de Pourtales, are to-day indoors, and the Princess de Sagan and her Siamese sister, the Marquise de Gallifit, are separated from their husbands. Only the Prince, like Marins, can meditate on this fine ruins of Carthage.

The trial of the two doctors for causing the death of Miss Thompson is not exactly a lady-subject. But here it monopolises as much attention as if the Czar was again in our midst. Miss Thompson was very handsome, and first-saleswoman in Redfern's war-rooms here, so well known to cosmopolitan ladies. In an evil hour she contracted a liaison with her brother-in-law, an ex-French officer, and to hide her shame, at his suggestion, placed herself in the hands of the two doctors, now being tried for guilty practices. Perceiving his misconduct discovered, her brother-in-law shot himself dead, almost in presence of his wife and little children—the first intimation they had of the family shame.

The hat question is less feverish; it is being ridiculed, and ridicule kills. It is proposed that in the theatres the ladies should sit at one side of the house and gentlemen at the other. Fashion novelties are only showing, as it were, the tips of their noses, but the signs can be read. Toilettes will be distinguished by simplicity, but of the most perfect make; skirts, straight in front and at the sides, gracefully gathering behind and draping. Hats promise to have high crowns and wide brims, while all trimming will be bright. Green of all shades and mauve of all tints will be the fashionable dress colours. For street wear English serges and Scotch cashmeres are appearing, but other dresses will include light woollens with expressive patterns and foulards of reflecting hues. For the tailor costume light satin cloths will be in vogue. For dinner and soirée dresses Parma violet is a colour patronized.

ANGELICAN SCHOOLS.

DEAR STANDARD—

Although I am in entire sympathy with the object of the meeting held in Prince George's Hall on Tuesday evening, I was unfortunately, like your correspondent, an Anglican Churchman, and unable to be present. Your report, however, gave me a very fair idea of the proceedings, and I venture to think that all your intelligent readers will therefrom have grasped the full meaning of the movement, and will have understood the drift of the speeches.

I cannot, for the life of me, see "An Anglican Churchman's" difficulty, the schoolboy will be able to tell him that Mr. Stevenson's reported words, even in their ineffectual nakedness, do not, and cannot, bear the interpretation which he, by a most curious and phenomenal perverseness, places upon them. I am far from wishing to be either rude or sarcastic, but I cannot help remarking that your correspondent, if he knew himself as he should, would have found a ready commentary in himself upon Mr. Stevenson's remarks: "That a man may go through the world without education, but not without religion." "An Anglican Churchman," if he be one really, has religion; and if his letter to you is really a fair specimen of the fruition of his mind, he certainly betrays no learning and very little knowledge. Yet I daresay he manages to get through the world fairly comfortable and happy, in spite of the scarcity of his stock-in-trade.

I think that Anglican churchmen in South America are pretty well agreed upon the general lines laid down for the proposed schools, and I feel that those of us who did not attend the meeting on Tuesday have no right to complain of lack of details. We must now await the results of the deliberations of the committee; but, in the meantime, I feel sure that the committee would hail with gladness any fresh ideas or suggestions for the furtherance of the movement, made either direct or through the medium of the press.

I can only say in conclusion that schools on the lines of Bedford Public School, for instance, would be of incalculable benefit to the British community in South America. If established here we should find parents in Chili, the Brazils and other countries sending their children to our schools in preference to sending them to the old country; and, needless to say, children would flock in from our own camps.

A Father.

29th April, 1897.

THE LOCUST INVESTIGATION COMMITTEE.

April 19th, 1897.

Mr. J. F. Roberts, Chairman of the Committee, has received most interesting letter addressed to U.S. Minister Buchanan by Major Alvord of the Department of Agriculture, Washington, who is one of the gentlemen asked to select an Entomologist to study the Locust question in this country.

We extract from Major Alvord's letter the following paragraphs:—"Speaking now for myself, let me report what I have done, thus far, as one of the nominating-committee (so to speak). 'I have done just what would have the object been to select the best man possible for a certain task of my own, sought the advice which seemed to be most valuable.

"Washington is a good point for such purpose. It is now quite a centre for natural scientists of eminence, including entomologists. I have consulted the Chief Entomologist of the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, the Curator of Entomology of the Smithsonian Institute and National Museum, and their assistants. Without hesitation or difference, they unite in saying that Prof. Lawrence Bruner, of the University of Nebraska and State Experiment Station (at Lincoln) is the best man on grasshopper investigations in the world. 'Professor Bruner did nearly all the celebrated grasshopper work for the old U. S. Entomological Commission, although, owing to peculiar circumstances, it was not credited to him. Almost every year since, he has been specially commissioned to survey the hopper-infested districts, study the situation, forecast depredations, etc. No man living is his equal in this speciality, or has the foundation and equipment for such a task as that awaiting attention in Argentina.

"He is not only able, but a quick, energetic, accurate and tireless worker. He will accomplish much more than most men in the same time. From nine or ten months given to investigation on the ground, he will give a comprehensive report on the life history of the pest; the respective limits of regions permanently infested and temporarily visited; the probable periodical visitation; the degree of damage likely to result in various areas, and the possibilities and means of reducing or removing the plague.

"And Prof. Bruner is tough. This is an important consideration.

"He is accustomed to hard and rough journeys on horseback, and otherwise in all sorts of climates and with many privations. The investigation you propose would seem to necessarily involve a good deal in this line. You can't afford a man unused to hardships in field work, and who might give out or have his usefulness impaired by physical infirmity.

"To-day it looks to me as if Prof. Bruner was your man. This being agreed to by our committee, the next thing will be to secure him.

"Dr. Howard, our Chief Entomologist, seems to be already well posted as to the situation in your country, and says that if you complete in good shape, once for all, such an investigation and report, as the circumstances require, you will do well to get through with an expenditure of $12,000 to $15,000 gold basis.

"Rest assured that the duty assigned us will be discharged to the best of our ability, and as expeditiously and economically as justified by our judgment of the necessities of the case.

PRESENTATION OF TESTIMONIAL.

The presentation of a testimonial to Mr. Laurence Christie on his leaving the Scotch School, with which he has been associated for a number of years, took place yesterday in the fine school building in Calle Huazango 599, at 2.30 p.m.

The occasion was a most interesting one, and the principal class room was crowded with a fine set of boys and girls, besides a number of their parents, and friends. Mr. Inglis Runciman, President of the School Committee, comprised of the following gentlemen: Rev. Dr. Smith, Rev. J. W. Fleming and Messrs. Yorston, George H. Clarke, C. Knox and J. Russell, addressed Mr. Christie, and expressed the great pleasure and satisfaction he had in presenting the testimonial (a handsome walnut writing desk with complete fittings and handsome type writer in the centre) to him on behalf of the committee, scholars, teachers and friends of the school, and begged him to accept it as a token of their esteem and friendship for the good services he had done in the school.

Mr. Christie replied in suitable terms, and was visibly moved. The ceremony then came to an end by the boys and girls giving Mr. Inglis Runciman three hearty cheers, as only British children can give them. Three cheers were also given for Mr. Christie. After this, the scholars all bade farewell to their old friend and teacher. The visitors—and they were many—then seized the occasion to make a tour of inspection all over the School, which is a fine, solid and neatly-built edifice, standing on a height and commanding a good view of the whole city. The School is built strictly on hygienic principles. The schoolrooms are large, lofty and airy, while there is plenty of good, fresh air constantly rushing "through" the edifice. The windows are placed a little more than half way up the walls. This has a double advantage, as it prevents any draught, and the little ones have not the temptation of constantly looking out into the street or garden. There are 2 separate play-grounds, one for boys and the second for girls; each contains a gymnasium, while there is a part of them covered over in case of rain. The school has at present over 200 scholars, while there is room for 300. The Committee has engaged the services of Mr. William Macpherson, M.A. of St. Andrew's University, and Mr. John Laidlau, of Edinburgh University, to act as Head School Master and second respectively. One of these gentlemen will be here shortly.

Mr. Blanchard has been named Head Master, until the arrival of Mr. Macpherson.

In conclusion we may state that the Scotch School has a building of its own, recently paid for rent whatever—a very important saving, and is thus able to give a first class education at a very low fee. We congratulate the Scotch community on being able to boast of such an institution.

THEATRES AND AMUSEMENTS.

To-night, at the Odeon, they give "La Bohème" for the eleventh time. This opera has been most deservedly successful, as every character is well filled by the very best artists of the Company. The performance to-night is for the benefit of Sr. Polacco, who has so ably conducted the opera during the season.

To-morrow will be the last night of the season, and will be devoted to the benefit of Sr. Quirici, the tenor, who has made a most favourable impression.

The San Martin theatre presented a brilliant sight last night when every seat was taken, due principally to the tasteful programme offered by Frank. Most of the performers were frantically applauded especially the Nagel family and the two miniature singers, Vargas and Bisaccia, also the clowns of which latter Frank excelled himself exhibiting some of his "extras" which he always keeps in store for a "noche de moda". The water pantomime went off without a hitch and provoked the usual roars of laughter from the audience. Altogether it was a tip-top performance.

LA PLATA.

(From our own correspondent)

La Plata, April 30th.

The police in Necochia have arrested two individuals suspected of having stolen 240 sheep from a neighbouring estancia. The animals were found a few leagues away from the town.

The Chamber of Deputies met at 4 p.m. to-day, and approved the report of the Executive Committee on the elections in the 5th section. Vargas and Mirista will each have five deputies and the Radicals two. The House then retired into "cuarto intermedio" until 8 p.m., the hour I write this correspondence. After a short interval it approved the report on the elections of the 6th section. The Radical Deputies did not put in an appearance.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Hurrah! The news of the day comes from London, and will be found in our telegram column. In spite of commercial competition from all sides, and all the queer things "made in Germany" to undersell him, John Bull closed his financial year yesterday with the whacking surplus in his Budget of £3,400,000, the largest he has had for many years, but not the largest he has ever had. Either Gladstone or Disraeli, (we forget which) had once a surplus that went over four millions. John, like a wise man, is not going on a spree with his new surplus, but intends to invest it in more fighting ships, as a caution to his enemies and a guarantee for his friends.

The unfortunate Greeks are utterly smashed, shivered and smitten hip and thigh, yet still hug the delusion that they can face the Turks. Yesterday desperate fighting was going on all day at that historic spot Pharsalia; and in Athens people were going mad in the streets with fear and anxiety. The sneaking Big Powers are pottering over the Christian duty to interfere to stop the bloodshed, just as they have sneaked and pottered all along Turkey is already talking of the terms of peace she means to exact (amongst them a good slice of Greek territory); and she is so elated with victory that if the Big Sneaks attempt to interfere, she may turn round and tell them, by the beard of the Prophet, that she does not care a dam for her empire for any of them.

We thank Mr. Charles Mackern for his usual kind supply of late papers from England, to 10th ult.

The present most unnatural weather is making every soul in town stare, and has so deceived the peach trees at the Tigre that they have put forth small fruit. The trees at Flores have also been completely taken in by the Clerk of the Weather, and are in blossom. The mosquitoes are still with us, especially the pious sect of them known as "Franciscanos," and they are more ferocious than in summer proper.

People shook and shivered in their boots yesterday when they read of the dynamite business at the Penitentiary. Had there been an explosion, all Palermo—the Zoo, Rotten Row, the Military School and the Race course etc.—would have gone over the moon, Penitentiary leading the procession. If the latter could go alone, with all the villains in it, it would be a public blessing and a red-letter event for society.

There was a big and affectionate crowd of friends on the site of the late lamented Central Station to see the Magdalena's passengers off to England, Home and beauty. The day is not far off when this mail-killing business will be transferred to the Constitución station.

The first meeting of the New Committee of the British and American Benevolent Society took place yesterday in the British Consulate, at 4.30 p.m. The following office bearers were elected:—Chairman:—Rev. D. MacLaughlin; Hon. Secretary:—Rev. A. R. Howell. M. A. Hon. Treasurer:—Mr. Ronald Bridgett. Mr. F. G. Cook was elected a member of Committee in place of Mr. J. Monteith Drysdale elected at the General Meeting but who declines to act.

As usual, the month wound up with a Lottery yesterday; nay, with two, one here and other in Montevideo; but the bulk of the tickets in the latter are always sold here. A German Child of Israel in this city won the $100,000 prize "integro." Here are the big prizes winning numbers:—11054, $100,000; 19088, 5,000; 7505, 15,000; 11719, 2,000; 20308, 5894, 16158, 7323, 14649, 4583, 4014, 1,000; 13659, 2826, 20813, 16088, 16782, 5729, 13174, 2418, 10573, 19416, 3992, 19174, 15474, 4001, 20564, 18607, 15329, 8235, 1711 3877, 13968, 500.

Not satisfied with annoying the public by not permitting any temporary station to be erected at foot of Calle Piedad, we now learn that the Railway Co. open can now even place any benches or connect the gas lamps or even repair the platform, which is full of holes. Truly, this is a country where those in power commit all kinds of "barbaridades," and there is no public opinion to resent them. Had recent events occurred in London, there would have been mass meetings held in Trafalgar Square or Hyde Park. While on the subject of railways we may state that we have before us a letter from a "Season Ticket Holder," asking our legal editor what claim, if any, he may have on the railway company for breach of contract in not conveying the holder to Central Station for three months unexpired time, and in lieu thereof landing him at Retiro. Let this nation of lawyers give us their opinion. Our legal editor admits his inability to give a decided opinion, and suggests a call on our "fighting editor."

The Deputies no-qued again yesterday for their preparatory sittings, so it is very problematical when President Urquiza will be able to read his Message to the lawgivers of the nation in Congress assembled.

The N. G's of this city returned from Donkey yesterday. A crowd of citizens began to assemble at the Once station at noon, and at 2.30 a train with the 2d Battalion of the 8th regiment entered. It took but a short time for them to "fall in" and march to the barracks in Plaza Lavalle. At 4.30 the 2d Battalion of the 4th arrived, and marched to Palermo barracks. The crowd cheered the young Guards most heartily, and they will be sent to their homes this morning. Their reception is very different from the grand racket last year when their seniors (now 21 years of age) returned from the tented field, but they have the satisfaction of knowing that they did their duty equally well, or better. We warmly welcome them back.

Remember, readers, that the Lookman memorial concert will take place in Prince George's Hall on Monday night next!

The veteran "librero" Jacobson, of Calle Florida, has most beautiful Diamond Jubilee cards on sale. Go, see and buy them, as Julius Caesar went, saw and conquered.

We received the St. Andrew's Gazette for May just as we were going to bed this morning. It is an attractive number, but we must reserve further notice of it till to-morrow.

The pow-wow in Rio over Admiral Goff's Chilean fleet verges on the absurd in its fizzing enthusiasm; and, whatever it may mean, is really too utterly utter for our readers, whatever it may be for those of our colleagues of other nationalities.

The reading of Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" by members of the St. Andrew's Debating Society last night, was much appreciated by the good audience that assembled. The various characters were read by Mrs. Shadbol, Miss Marion Fraser, Rev. J. W. Fleming, Rev. A. R. Howell, Messrs. J. M. Drysdale, A. Drysdale, S. Moody, F. B. Percy, C. Roberts and F. Dodge. Considering it was the first attempt at such ambitious work, the readers must be congratulated on the success of their efforts.

A very pleasant evening will be spent by all who attend the concert to be given in the Hall attached to the Scotch Church to-night. The proceeds will be given to assist the Piano fund, and the charge for admission is one dollar only.

The mail from New York to Great Britain which reached Southampton on Christmas Eve last was the heaviest ocean mail ever known. It consisted of 1,500 large sacks, containing 200,000 letters, 250,000 newspapers and other packages.

We have to thank Messrs. Galli Bros. for late English papers up to 10th ult., per French mail steamer Bresil.

Advices from Bolivia announce that Cuellar, the murderer of the late Chilean Minister there, Sr. Matta, has escaped, or been allowed to escape, from the jail at Sucre.

There was a striking scene in the Town Hall at Bresil on Thursday, when Sir Edmund Monson, British Ambassador in Paris, delivered to the fishermen and their wives the gold medals sent them by Her Majesty as an acknowledgment of their great kindness to the survivors of the wreck of the unfortunate Drummond Castle. The Town Hall was decorated with French and English flags, and Sir Edmund was enthusiastically cheered as he delivered the medals.

The old story. The city of Holy Faith is badly in want of more "circulating medium," alias chaplains. Business there is as dead as Julius Caesar, and it is feared that half the small farms in the colonies will be fallow this year for want of seed.

The Fronsa's leader yesterday "Por los Botones," in reference to the National Guards being deprived of their uniforms and sent home in civilian dress, attracted much attention, and is a very severe "despedida" for Minister Villanueva on his leaving office. The article was highly approved, by both Argentinians and foreigners. The boy Guards have been very severely treated indeed.

There are ten newspaper editors in the House of Commons, six printers, four tailors, three stationers, two butchers, three hotel-keepers, six tenant farmers, one coal merchant and one cab proprietor.

H. M. Minister in Montevideo, Mr. Walter Baring, goes home in the Magdalena on a six months' vacation trip. During his absence the Legation will be in charge of Mr. Thornton, Her Majesty's Secretary of Legation here. We wish Mr. Baring a very pleasant time of it at home.

The Sailors' Home as a permanent monument of the Queen's Jubilee, and which the STANDARD was the first to propose, has now definitely carried the opinion of the whole English-speaking community, and there is not a dissenting voice. We are always lucky in matters connected with the Royal Family. When the Duke of Clarence died we suggested to the Duke of York that he should marry Princess May, and he took our advice, with the happiest results for himself and the nation. Now we score again, with the Sailors' Home.

We're delighted to hear it. The bulky leader of the Her Majesty's Opposition in the Commons, Sir W. V. Harcourt, tried to draw "Arthur" on Thursday as regards affairs in the Transvaal, but failed; as the first Lord of the Treasury confined himself to a statement that England only intended to sustain her rights in South Africa, and had no intention whatever of "going for" the Transvaal, as war would be a calamity for all concerned. Now, Arthur, did you really mean what you said? We don't know. What is your colleague Joseph buying such a lot of Argentine horses for? And what does he want with nine more batteries of Horse Artillery in S. A.?

In the White House throng on March 9 waiting to greet President McKinley it is said was an old woman of dignified and refined appearance. In her hand she carried a silk umbrella with a gold head. She stood in line several minutes, waiting to shake the hand of the President. Finally when it came her turn, she bowed reverently and, bringing the hand of President McKinley to her lips, she kissed it. President McKinley said nothing, but smiled. The old woman then walked away and left the White House, evidently satisfied with herself and all the world.

Ladies: how would you like to be 9 feet in height and have to purchase forty yards of stuff for each dress in your wardrobe. A New York exchange describes as follows "the tallest woman in the world":—"Miss Ella Ewing is described as beautiful, amiable and wonderfully affectionate, which is fortunate, as she is nine feet in height. Thus, at least, she is described by her manager, who contributes these additional details concerning her life. She is a farmer's daughter, from Gorin, Mo. Her parents are comparatively rich, and that is also fortunate for the girl. She is but a slip of twenty-four years; forty yards of cloth are required for a single dress, and one of her gloves uses up an entire goat skin. When her parents sent her to the neighbourhood school, it was necessary to have a desk and chair made especially for her. Her companions at school idolized her, and they deemed it great fun to be seized by the wrist and lifted eight feet from the ground for a resounding kiss. At home she is said to be admired for her stature, and loved for her maidenly attributes. Soon, however, the community in which she was reared will have to content itself without her, for she has signed a contract to become one of the "attractions" of a circus. Her father is rich, and she does not need to work, but the salary offered was irresistible. She will appear day and night. It is said that she is the tallest human-being that ever lived—taller even than Chang, the Chinese giant, who, when he was in this country, used to be nine feet in height, but his height is now given by experts as eight feet two inches. At all events, she is the tallest woman, for there have been only two other gigantes that could compare with her, and they fell behind her in stature by some inches."

The Socialists at La Plata intend to take the advice of the Bard of Avon, and assume a virtue, if they have it not. The Socialist Club there has called on all the working men's Societies to join the grand Civic Procession on May 25th.

The La Plata Wiggins, Mr. Campos, blows a blast on his own trumpet and calls attention to the fulfilment of his last weather forecast, viz. rain then fine weather. The 23d and 24th ult. and then fine weather. Mr. C. now says that rain is again near at hand.

The Russian Bear is getting on with his greatest railway in the world, the Trans-Siberian, which, when finished, will put Japan within eight days of London. Five thousand miles of rail have already been laid at a cost of $50,000,000 (about $262,000,000) and it is said that by next year trains will be running to the Amoor river. Thence passengers and freight will be sent by fast steamship to Chabarovka; thence over the South Russian section of the Siberian railway in eighteen hours to Vladivostok, making the entire distance from London to the most important harbors of the Japan sea a matter of less than eight days. Before the year 1901 Russia will have laid rails across Manchuria, thus saving 500 miles; and it is hoped eventually to reduce the time of the entire trip across Siberia to nine days.

Secretary of State John Sherman once said of the newspaper reporter: "He is the greatest enigma of the nineteenth century. I am interested in him always, respect him generally, and fear him sometimes. But I never cease to wonder at his resourcefulness in searching for news."

REGISTERED KENT

OR

SHEEP

The attention of flockmasters throughout the world is called to the above breed of sheep, which is establishing a reputation second to none, both at home and abroad.

Australia, New Zealand, the Argentine Republic, Cape Colony and Natal, South Africa and the Falkland Islands have found them most valuable in that before any other sheep they readily adapt themselves to climatic variations and thrive upon any sort of feed.

The characteristics of the Kent or Romney Marsh breed are the production of mutton of the highest quality with a large proportion of lean meat, the rendering of a heavy fleece of good semi-wool and the greatest possible thriftiness.

These sheep graze evenly over any land upon which they are pastured and do not herd together, as is the case with many other breeds.

For crossing with other breeds, the Romney Marsh stands unequalled, brining as it does a hardy constitution combined with great kindness points, which are all important in a grazing animal.

Full information and a list of Breeders of Registered Kent or Romney Sheep can be obtained from W. W. Chapman, Secretary of the Kent or Romney Marsh Sheep Breeders' Association, Fitzalan House, Arundel Street, Strand, London, England.

Gold Premium

FIRST RING..... 195.00

So far as the gold market went, things were quiet enough to-day, the liquidation passing off most uneventfully, without any difficulty or hitch, and lacking even the usual swing-up or rattle-down in prices, as the crucial moment discovers the bulls' phreatic or the bears' short. There was a big cash movement--over 4 of a million dollars changing hands, but the tether of the oscillation was a bare point. For dates there was little movement and little interest, so that the speculation is inert, if not actually extinct. Thus the position is pretty clearly defined. We may assume that with the pass reduced to a bare point or so, at most 1 1/2 point, there will be a heavy delivery of 'spas' gold, perhaps all pending in this regard, and which has weighed on the market considerably; we may further assume that gold shipments are inevitable with produce running short and exchange figuratively going to the dogs; and finally it can be presumed that the commercial depression will not show any more palatable feature than at present. Such presumption cannot in the natural order of things favor a further fall in the premium. It is very satisfactory and not less surprising to see the National Revenue increasing, and no doubt this throws a halo of optimism round the situation that the cutting, polishing and setting of the Message will bring out in the very boldest relief, but the winter has to be got through somehow, and there's the rub. The market cannot live on the Message; it cannot sleep through the winter distilling supplies from the blue-books as Bruin sucks nourishment from his paws, and if it cannot and will not, even supposing that commercial remittances are held back to sustain local credit, what is to supply the needful? It is a query that requires an answer. There is no eluding the point, no getting away from the circumstances, and certainly the latter are not such as to warrant a very high grade of optimism. Whatever may be, therefore, the course of gold for the present, under the actually abnormal conditions, it is very sure that before very long the reaction must set in.

The business in gold at the first hour only ran to a total of a little over a million dollars, in spite of the heavy dealing for cash. The price opened at 294 1/2, dropped to 294, and then facing squarely upwards advanced to 295 1/2, to close at 295, showing a rise of 50 cents. Passing was difficult, so there were few sellers on time and little doing. After the hour, the price left off at 295.20, buyers. In stocks there was almost total paralysis, a little movement in Catalinas, but nothing else to speak of. Even the Cats, as they are euphemistically called, were dull and neglected, sellers over at 1.45.

The following is a summary of the business effected at the first ring to-day:-- $ 764,000 cash at 294.50-294.25-295.25-295.50-30.50-30.20-30.20-295.25-295.20-30-295.25-30-30.50-30.20-30.20-295.294.80-295.

The figures of the revenue which we published in our last issue were in everybody's hands to-day and few imagined that the returns could possibly show the elasticity they do, or compare favorably with those of 1896 when everything was flourishing, not to say on the boom. This opinion was very freely expressed, and the market is very favorably surprised, though it looks with misgiving at the enormous difficulty Dr. Escalante will have to overcome in making both ends meet, with the situation so bad and the requirements of the nation so enormously increased by the Full Pay Programme. Many people lose sight of the fact that in addition to the full interest on all the loans, there are arrears of interest on the Fundings and 1896 loan to be met, the interest on the Railway bonds with which the guarantees were eliminated, to be paid, the Banco Nacional 'cancion' to be kept going, Puerto Belgrano to be built and perhaps the service of some Provincial loans (probably Santa Fé and Buenos Aires) to be covered--all which means an enormous drain. The revenue will have to grow apace to keep in step with such a disbursement; and indeed if it were not for the wonderful vitality of the country itself, stability of the Government and institutions; and comparative tranquillity as regards international outlook, it would be a desperate picture. But the motto of this country should be 'nil desperandum', and in the long run it must rise superior to even such a mountain of difficulty.

Letters received from Johannesburg, South Africa, dated so late as March 15th state that the outlook there is extremely

The right side shows the dark blue, textured cover material, likely leather or faux leather, which is also worn and shows signs of aging. In the Admiralty Court, Mr. Justice Barnes delivered judgment in a motion arising out of the fatal collision between the Aberdeen steamship Crathie and the North German Lloyd liner Elbe. The Crathie, which had been found alone to blame, had limited her liability under the Merchant Shipping Act to £6,876, being £15 per ton on her gross tonnage. The total claims, however, exceeded a quarter of a million, and various questions now arose, including a question whether the Crathie should pay interest since the date of the collision on the amount representing £1 per ton for which liability had been given the amount representing £3 per ton having been paid into court with interest. His Lordship said he saw no distinction between the amount of £3 per ton for damage to ship and cargo, and the amount of £7 per ton for loss of life or personal injury, and he ordered the Crathie to pay interest on £3,200, representing £7 per ton, from the date of the collision until the money was paid into court. Subject to this direction he should confirm the Registrar's report, which dealt with the various claims.

A TERRIBLE COUGH.

"Dear Sir,—I am a poor hand at expressing my feelings, but I would like to thank you. Your lozenges have done wonders in relieving my terrible cough. Since I had the operation of "Fracture" (the same as the late Emperor of Germany, and unlike him, thank God, I am still alive) performed at St. Bartholomew's Hospital, no one could possibly have had a more violent cough; it was so bad at times that I could not sleep. The mucus, which was very copious and hard, has been softened, and I have been able to get rid of it without difficulty.—I am, Sir, yours truly, J. HILL.

"I have, indeed, great pleasure in expressing my feelings, but I would like to thank you. Your lozenges have done wonders in relieving my terrible cough. Since I had the operation of "Fracture" (the same as the late Emperor of Germany, and unlike him, thank God, I am still alive) performed at St. Bartholomew's Hospital, no one could possibly have had a more violent cough; it was so bad at times that I could not sleep. The mucus, which was very copious and hard, has been softened, and I have been able to get rid of it without difficulty.—I am, Sir, yours truly, J. HILL.
